Parking in the Wharf is limited. Pay attention to the signs and curb colors. Curb wheels on hills: turn wheels into the curb when parking downhill and out for uphill. Pedestrians and Cable Cars have the right of way. Try

Cable Cars
No visit to San Francisco is complete without taking a ride on a classic cable car. The cable car has no engine—they are pulled by a steel cable embedded in the street, which always moves at exactly 9.5 miles an hour. There are three Cable Car lines: Powell-Hyde runs from Aquatic Park to Union Square at the intersection of Powell and Market, offering magnificent panoramic views of the city and bay

Fisherman's Wharf History, culture and ethnic pride make Fisherman's Wharf a world-famous destination. From the Gold Rush days until the turn of the century, the city's fishing fleet was composed of lateen-rigged sailboats known as "feluccas", copies of the crafts the Italian fisherman used in their native land. Today, the fishing fleet and many of the Wharf's internationally-acclaimed restaurants are operated by the grandsons and great-grandsons of these past generations of hardworking folk.

E and F Lines
 San Francisco's Municipal Railway's (Muni) diverse collection of vintage streetcars, trolleys, and trams carry passengers to and from the Wharf daily via Market Street and the Embarcadero. These "museums in motion" represent the US and international cities. E and F Wharves Streetcar Lines operate every 5-12 minutes from 6:00am-12:30am. Adult fare $2.75 Youth/Senior fare $1.35 (ages 5-18 and 65+, valid ID required) Information: 415-673-6864, 511 or sfmta.com.

Fishing Fleets
 Fisherman's Wharf is the center of Northern California's commercial and sport fishing fleets. Pier 45 houses the West Coast's largest concentration of commercial fish processors and distributors. The Port berths an average of 300 commercial fishing boats. Seasons vary for the fishing fleet: Dungeness Crab: November-June. Salmon and Squid: April-October. Abalone: year round except February and August. Ocean Perch: June-September. Sand Dab, Rex Sole, Sea Bass, Ling, Rock Cod, Black Cod, Mackerel and Halibut (with limits) are caught year round. San Francisco's sport fishing fleet is located on Jefferson Street at the Wharf.

Alcatraz Island
 Alcatraz Island, named for the pelicans that nest there, sits isolated amidst the cold winds of the bay. First used as a prison by the U.S. Army during the Civil War, "The Rock" became a maximum security penitentiary in 1934. Notorious criminals did time on this harsh island including mobster Al Capone and bank robber Leon "Whitey" Thompson. Numerous escapes were attempted, though there's no evidence that anyone survived the swim to shore. The prison closed in 1964 due to prohibitive operating costs, and is currently one of the Bay Area's most popular tourist destinations. Be sure to wear sturdy walking shoes and bring a jacket. 415-981-7625 for Alcatraz Cruises departing Pier 33.

Port Walk The Port of San Francisco installed signs for a memorable self-guided walking tour of Fisherman's Wharf – The Port Walk. Each display explains the history and current workings of the fishing industry, geographical information and other highlights of this vibrant area.

Dungeness Crab For the ultimate Wharf experience, stroll down Jefferson Street and order fresh Dungeness crab from one the vendors with the big steaming cauldrons. Don't worry when he cracks your crab with his mallet and opens it on the counter—it's part of the tradition carried on from turn-of-the-century fisherman Tomaso Castagnola. Folks have flocked to enjoy this tasty tradition ever since.

Sourdough Bread During the San Francisco Gold Rush, French baker Isidore Boudin created a tart, tasty loaf of bread that had a distinctive crust and a chewy, soft heart. 150 years later, his recipe lives on. Instead of yeast, it's the bacteria from yogurt that makes sourdough rise. Boudin's first sourdough was made with the same strain of bacteria used in the Boudin bakeries today. All sourdough bakers use a bit of the previous day's "mother" dough, keeping the distinctive flavor of San Francisco's — sourdough bread consistent throughout the decades.
